Château Cantenac Brown – G.C.C. | Margaux France (MARGAUX) – 2021

Domain

Ch. Cantenac Brown

This domain is located in Cantenac in the Margaux appellation in France. In the early 19th century, this domain was purchased by the Scottish painter John Lewis Brown, who took his name from the wine. In 2005 this domain was taken over by the current operator Simon Halabi. They wanted to bring their wine to the top with different impulses. They now grow in an environmentally friendly way. The domain is 48 hectares and the vineyards consist of 65% Cabernet Sauvignon, 30% Merlot and 5% Cabernet Franc. 130 000 bottles of wine are produced here annually.

Vinification

Vinification by parcel, with maceration and alcoholic fermentation in cuves. Malolactic fermentation takes place in barrique and in cuves. Education in French oak, for 15 months. 60% of the barriques are renewed annually. The assembly is done in cuves.

Taste

This wine has a deep, garnet red color. In the nose we find floral tones together with ripe fruit aromas. On the pallet, the expression of the fruit and the smooth taste ensure a very pleasant taste experience. A very refined, feminine and typical Margaux style with a nice freshness at the end. The elegance and freshness are central this year.
